

SECURE CLOUD MANAGEMENT PLATFORM

VIDEO TRANSCRIPT

When your mission is defense, cloud security is paramount.

So is speed.

All too often, cloud deployments for special data types and classification levels are managed as one-offs.

The time spent configuring environments and waiting on authorization adds up fast – putting the mission at risk.

For defense agencies and contractors, compromise isn't an option.

Whether you're on private cloud, multi-cloud, or a hybrid environment, you need consistent enforcement of technical and security policies AND swift deployment – using your cloud service of choice.

With Accenture Federal Services, you get all that – and more.

We have deployed thousands of cloud workloads that serve National Security missions. Accenture Federal delivers secure cloud infrastructure and configuration as code.

Your program or agency gets a single-pane view into your environments and all the advantages of centralized cloud management.

With enterprise IT and cyber services, you can consolidate data center and labor costs and operate more efficiently.

Unlike other cloud management providers, Accenture Federal supports all classifications and impact levels.

Our platform lets your teams develop low and publish high, reducing overall costs and ensuring system parity across mission workloads.

Our secure cloud platform isn't just code. It's also available as a managed service. You get experienced engineers who understand your mission, know your operational constraints, and develop creative solutions to help you manage risk.

From strategic consulting to a suite of accelerators for turnkey implementation, your program or agency gets the support you need.

With our Secure Cloud Management Platform, security is a shared responsibility.

The infrastructure and enterprise services come with the highest security standards. Meanwhile, you retain control over the mission workload security.

With cloud templates and built-in security, you can dramatically shorten the ATO and deployment process.

And when deployments move at mission speed, so does time to productivity.

Our platform is mission-tested. We have deployed secure cloud environments for every service branch.

If your program needs faster cloud deployments with parameterized security and managed services, learn more at AccentureFederal.com/cloud-for-missions.
