

GENERATION EQUAL

VIDEO TRANSCRIPT

Some things I've learned are to really not let other people's opinions of me limit myself. For me, self-expression saved me in a way, because it's how you escape and how you live your true, authentic self. I love my culture. Like, I make sure you know that, okay, I'm a Nigerian boy as well as an Irish boy. One of my main motivations is I don't want anybody to feel as lonely as I did growing up. Who the hell wants to fit in when I can march to my own drum? It is so valuable to just know that you are loved for being you.
