Let's go!

Welcome to Bengaluru!

Bengaluru, known as India's Silicon Valley, is one of the fastest growing cities in India.

It is also home to our largest Intelligent Operations Center in the world and is example of one of our 50+ centers dedicated to enabling your journey to intelligent operations. It is also one of 30+ centers that specializes in driving exceptional innovation needed to build an intelligent finance operating model that grows business value.

This facility, like all our other locations, is fully ISO® 14001 Environmental Management System-Certified. From smart meters to renewable energy, we continue to assess and minimize how we impact our environment.

Our diverse teams of industry, functional and domain experts, AI engineers and data scientists work together in collaborative and innovative spaces across 11 floors at this facility.

This includes professionals focused on core finance operations which transform payables, receivables, reporting, and governance processes to increase speed, accuracy, controls, compliance, and strategic finance operations which provide the real-time data and insights needed to make better business decisions.

It is here where we would work with you to transform your finance operations from being a transactional service to a strategic asset that can help you outmaneuver uncertainty, maximize investments and boost growth and shareholder value.

At the heart of our approach for accelerating the journey to digital, data-driven, intelligent finance operations is our SynOps platform. Here, in our SynOps hub on the 9th floor, you can see how we make intelligent operations a reality:
