

SWATI

UNLOCKS POTENTIAL

AFTER A CAREER BREAK

VIDEO TRANSCRIPT

Hi, my name is Swati. I'm an Operations Lead based in Mumbai. I stepped away from my career briefly to take care of my child.

After my break, I realized I needed to update and refresh my skillset to boost my employability. I also wanted to rebuild my professional network by engaging in networking events, joining industry associations, seeking mentorship opportunities, and reconnecting with colleagues.

While I was doing this, I came across Accenture's Career Reboot Program for women and felt they were the best organization to work with. The leaders motivate you, and the company is dedicated to employee well-being and empowering women. Accenture's flexible working hours help me to maintain my work/life balance.

Accenture's continuous learning and upskilling opportunities help employees stay updated with the latest trends in the industry. This really motivated me to apply to the company. The career reboot program for women provides additional support with customized guidance, resources, and strategies for re-entering the workforce. It serves as a platform to give rebooters valuable skills that align with current job market demands.

My advice to women who want to reboot their career is to take the time to reflect on your career aspirations, interests, and values. Evaluate the skills and knowledge that are in demand in your field, identify any gaps in your skill set, and build your confidence by seeking opportunities to update them. Programs like Accenture's career reboot can help you with all of this – and much more!
